

Business Development Specialists Announces the Redesign of FreeBusinessConsultants.com

By Bill Ellis

Dated: May 08, 2009

Bill Ellis today announced the redesign of FreeBusinessConsultants.com, a free business consulting site specially designed by Business Development Specialists for connecting new and existing businesses to free advice and free email consultation.

Sedona, Arizona -- FreeBusinessConsultants.com has been redesigned to help entrepreneurs save time and make money. Services include free online information and email business consulting on a full range of subjects from starting your business to going global.

Starting and operating your own business may be a lifelong dream or an economic necessity. Whatever the case, becoming a successful entrepreneur can be quite a challenge. According to Bill Ellis, owner of FreeBusinessConsultants.com, "We get many requests for information that is readily available on our site, so we felt it may have been cumbersome to navigate. We added a clear site map to facilitate navigation. For those who may have been reluctant to leave information, downloads are now available without identification."

"Freebusinessconsultants.com provides start-ups and existing businesses with valuable information, help and support at no cost." says Ellis.

Many reports state that the top reasons for business failures are: insufficient capital, poor credit arrangements, bad location, competition, market turndowns, etc. According to Ellis, "these are not reasons for business failures, they are merely symptoms. The real reason a business fails is because the business leader fails through lack of information, insufficient planning, poor execution, and failure to monitor the business environment".

How does FreeBusinessConsultants.com help? FreeBusinessConsultants.com includes sections on Starting Your Business, Franchising, Locating Your Business, Financing Your Business, Marketing Your Business, Sales Management, Strategies for Success, and much more.

FreeBusinessConsultants.com provides additional Helpful Resources and a section with up-to-date Business and Finance news. There is an extensive section of relevant Articles that is updated regularly and a section of Free Offers that can help you succeed in business.

Visitors to the site are free to copy or download any information on the site. Should there be additional questions or assistance required, the Business Consultants team will answer questions that are submitted via the site. The usual response time is 2-3 work days.

"It is our hope that FreeBusinessConsultants.com will become a valuable part of the entrepreneur's business management tool kit." says Ellis

FreeBusinessConsultants.com was founded by Business Development Specialists, an organization of independent business consultants, led by Bill Ellis. The Business Consultants team is backed by more than 70 years of combined business consulting experience.
